God will make you fishers of men, too. Every day you choose how to act and react to others. When you choose to treat others as Jesus would treat you, you are being a good example for them. They will want to be like you. They will come closer to God because of the kind way you treated them. When you treat others good, it gives them the love they need to pass on your kindness to others. There is a saying, "What goes around, comes around." It means the way you treat others is how they will treat you.
